WESTERN MARYLAND CLOSES TRAFFIC DEAL WITH LAKE ERIE.

Arrangement Covering 99 Years Concluded and Official Announcement Is Issued.

LINK TO CUMBERLAND SURE

Rockefeller Road Gets Traffic Rights to Pittsburgh and the Lakes While Vanderbilt Lines Secure New Opening to Atlantic Coast.

With the former announcement by President Benjamin Dush of the Western Maryland that his road has concluded a 99 year traffic agreement with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad for the use of its tracks from Conneville to Pittsburgh, the building of the Cumberland-Conneville link is positively assured. That an announcement was made yesterday in New York, following a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Western Maryland. The official statement is said by President Dush following the meeting as follows:

A traffic arrangement, covering a period of 99 years, has been concluded between the Western Maryland Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company.

The contract, as executed, involves the immediate extension of the Western Maryland line to Cumberland, Md., to a connection with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie line at Conneville, Pa., and provides for full traffic arrangements between the two lines, opening lines and terminals of each company, to the traffic of the other company and its through connections.

This statement at once puts an end to the rumor which was circulated some days ago in the columns of a local paper to effect that the Western Maryland would probably use the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio between Cumberland and Conneville.

The agreement is fraught with the deepest significance to Conneville and directly affects the shipping interests of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Besides affording ships a new trunk line to the eastern coast, there is every possibility that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, by this latest move, will be enabled to share with the Baltimore & Ohio the monopoly it has enjoyed in the rich coal fields of West Virginia. Already important move have been taken by the Lake Erie to lay the West Virginia fields and with an eastern outlet it can compete with the Baltimore & Ohio for eastern shipments.

The benefits of the traffic arrangement are even greater for the Lake Erie than the Western Maryland for it puts this branch of the Vanderbilt system in an equal footing with the Baltimore & Ohio. On the other hand, the Western Maryland secures a connecting link between Conneville and Pittsburgh which is worth millions to it. It is predicted, in circles apparently reliable, that the Western Maryland will eventually build its own line from Conneville to Pittsburgh, by way of Charlestown, but the agreement just concluded protects the Lake Erie and guarantees it an eastern outlet during the life of the contract.

The construction of the Cumberland-Conneville link will be the first step in the building of a formidable system of its own in this section. The present western terminus of the Western Maryland is at Conneville, W. Va., 141 miles west of Cumberland, Connellsville, however, is only 93 miles west of Cumberland, and 131 miles from Washington. To connect the system by way of Conneville and Conneville would not be practicable, because of the distance and the longer distance. The Cumberland-Conneville link at Conneville is a line over shorter than that of the Baltimore & Ohio.

It is said a triangle will eventually be completed by the construction of a line from Conneville to Baltimore. This would enable the Western Maryland to tap the West Virginia coal fields, as the Lake Erie proposes to do.

As late as two years ago the Western Maryland made extensive surveys of the Cumberland-Conneville route by way of Ohiopyle, Confluence, Rockwood and Meyersdale, joining the Western Maryland at Mt. Savage Junction. The new line would be a costly one, but would be infinitely more important in alignment and gradient than the Baltimore & Ohio. The road would be higher above the hills, but would touch every town of importance now reached by the Baltimore & Ohio at Sand Patch, where the Baltimore & Ohio tunneled through the mountains for 14 miles, the Western Maryland route turns south and goes through the mountains about four miles south of the Baltimore & Ohio following a little creek through the Ploughery through Larimer town.

Mother Gives Life's Blood For Her Son

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The life of Arthur Shibley, one of the little boy victims of the mysterious shooting at High Bridge park a few days ago in which Robbie Lomax was killed by an unknown man, may be saved owing to the sacrifice made by his mother last night.

Early in the evening the boy began sinking. His mother was called and at her solicitation the surgeons made an incision in her right wrist. The boy's veins were connected with those of his mother and for five minutes her blood was pumped into the dying boy.

Little Arthur showed immediate improvement. The doctors this morning say he has a fine chance of recovery. While her blood was being transmitted to her son the mother continually spoke words of encouragement to him. Both were conscious.

(Special to The Courier.)
DUNBAR, Jan. 18.—By the bursting of a steam pipe at the boiler house of the Atlas plant of the Cambria Steel Company two men were badly burned about the face, and that both men did not lose the sight of both eyes is almost a miracle.

SPICY DIVORCE CASE ON TRIAL.

Jury Asked to Pass on Suit of Nabors for Marital Dissolution.

CO-RESPONDENT IS NAMED

Herd Case Is Being Argued Today and Will Go to Jury This Afternoon. Fifty-nine Witnesses Were Heard on Both Sides.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 19.—Sensation testimony of a divorce case is being given before Judge Van Swearingen in the divorce case of Abner Nabors against his wife, Catherine Nabors, in which infidelity is alleged and one George Lemick, a railroadman, named as co-respondent. The defense insisted upon a trial by jury and the prosecution opened its case this morning with Nabors himself as the stellar witness.

The couple was married in 1893 and lived happily until Lemick, who came to board with them in 1907, had been in the home about a year. It was then, Nabors claims, that he became suspicious.

The principal grievance Nabors first laid was because his wife refused to let him bandage her sore ankle, although she, it is alleged, permitted Lemick to perform this task twice a day. Nabors also objected to the fact that Lemick often accompanied Mrs. Nabors to the stable at milking time, and said it took longer than usual on these occasions to milk the cow. The breach widened on April 21, 1909, when Nabors claims to have found Lemick secreted in a closet in Mrs. Nabors' room. He then insisted that Lemick leave the house, but he refused to go until Mrs. Nabors told him, to which was not for some time later. Several witnesses were called on Nabors' side and the defense will present its evidence this afternoon.

The hard nut against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was closed yesterday afternoon and this morning Attorney D. W. McDonald opened for the defense. He argued for two hours. Mr. McDonald claimed the land is just as good today as it ever was, being useful only for manufacturing sites, and even in that event retaining wall must be built along the river bank. At 1:30 W. C. McKinnon began arguments for the plaintiffs and upon the conclusion of his remarks the court will deliver its charge. During the progress of the trial 69 witnesses were examined, 33 for the plaintiffs and 26 for the defendants.

In the suit of J. W. Reed against N. P. Wolmer, being an action to recover a rule has been issued on the plaintiff to show cause why judgment should not be entered and the defendant let into a defense.

In the estate of W. W. Patterson, late of Perryopolis, letters of administration were issued this morning to Ella Byers, a daughter. Bond in the sum of $5,000 was given with D. W. Henderson and M. W. Byers as sureties.

Following the decree of pro confesso entered last week in the case of the P & L E railroad against Fayette county, the court handed down an order, restraining the county from demanding any penalty from the plaintiff company in case the two-cent rule law is violated, as the company announced its intention of doing at the time the suit was filed.

The following cases set for trial today have been continued West Penn Electric Company against William L. Harvey, assumpsit; Christiana Felty against Westmoreland Grocery Company, two cases; Appeals, continued until next week; Manford Felty against P. Glansathasis, assumpsit; and Thomas H. Sheppard against Maria G. Gillot, set for a mortgage.

Philip Sheridan Porter, only son of the late Rebecca Porter, of North Union township, is sole heir under the will of his mother, which has just been probated in the Recorder's office.

Dr. J. T. Burnette of South Browlyville gets no damages from Redstone township for the loss of his automobile and injuries which he himself sustained in an accident on the Brownsville-Brownell road. After a spirited legal contest before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen Tuesday afternoon the court sustained the motion of the defense for a compulsory non suit on the grounds of contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

A Race War on West Side Was War of Words

Lawrence Muncey, a West Side negro, was in police court this morning as the result of a race argument on the other side of the river yesterday afternoon. Muncey went into a store to buy some cigarette tobacco. According to his story, a customer made a remark that negroes should not be permitted to buy anything like that. "I guess a nigger is as good as an Irishman," said Muncey. "You Irishmen are still slaves over in Ireland. We have been free 40 years."

This angered the Celt, and a wordy battle resulted. The Irishman gave it up and had Muncey arrested. He was held until the officers making the arrest could be questioned.

Andy Chornick, who is seating his way from Lintonburg to Chicago, refused to pay for his meal in John Foust's restaurant. In the melee which resulted, it shows case glass was demolished. The foreigner denied having any money and was sent to the cells for 72 hours in lieu of a $5 fine and the price of the glass.

GREENSBURG WAS CUT OFF

Trolley Traffic Resumed at Late Hour Last Night After Being Cut Off Since Noon—Cold Weather Causes Streams to Fall Rapidly.

For the third time this month cold weather, following a thaw has saved this section from serious damage from high water, but in spite of the sudden drop in the temperature over night the river this morning reached the highest stage that has been recorded since March, 1907, when Water street was submerged.

A stage of 11.30 feet was reached this morning, but the stream had fallen several inches before the record was taken. There was a sudden rise last evening after a record of 9.84 feet was taken and old timers estimated that the stream went up fully three feet between 5 o'clock and midnight. The mercury dropped to freezing during the night and this put an end to the thaw and caused the stream to fall slowly.

The warm weather of the past 48 hours, accompanied by a soaking rain, sent the streams of this section to a flood stage. Mount creek swept down the valley and emptied its muddy waters into the raging Youghiogheny. Other streams were also badly swollen. No accidents were reported as a result of the rise.

The West Penn Railways Company suffered severely from the rains and for several hours yesterday it was impossible to reach Greensburg either over the West Penn or the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg routes. On the West Penn track was impeded at two points, Jacobs Creek putting a temporary end to traffic at Swedetown, just north of Scottdale, and Jack's run was also responsible for blocking traffic at Fosterville. It is estimated that fully 300 acres of ground were submerged under from one to six feet of water around Youngwood.

Although the water at no time reached a depth much greater than 15 inches over the tracks of the West Penn, this was sufficient to block traffic and for several hours shuttle service was operated.

It was about 7:30 that through traffic was resumed to Greensburg by way of Tarr, while the Hecla line was clear about 10:30. The tracks had been blocked since shortly after noon. No damage was done by the floods aside from delaying traffic. The new Westmoreland county road and bridge over Jack's run were submerged by the high water, while several inches rose over the Pennsylvania tracks. Traffic on the railroad was not blocked, although it was necessary to observe extreme caution in running over the flooded tracks.

On January 3 the Yough river rose rapidly and reached a stage of 11.20 feet. On this occasion a drop in the temperature caused the river to fall. The mercury this morning was 33 degrees. Yesterday morning it was 50 and 39 last evening.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G., JAN. 19, 1910.

WESTERN MARYLAND AND LAKE ERIE MOVEMENTS.

The advent of another railroad in Connellsville is no longer a matter for speculation. The official announcement in Baltimore and Pittsburgh puts an end to all doubts. The Western Maryland will be built from Cumberland to Connellsville and connect with the Lake Erie system here. Private advisers during the past month pointed to the same conclusion.

The recent movements of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie indicate that the Vanderbilt interests are ambitious to enter the West Virginia field; and, further, that while they may still remain a party to the community of railroad interest in the Connellsville region, they propose to limit their operations to the confines of the Connellsville region.

The aggressive extension of the Lake Erie line into Morgantown and the connection therewith established with the Pennsylvania system is in striking contrast with the halting policy of the Pennsylvania, which has been clear up the right bank of the river for these many years.

The sluggish movements of the Pennsylvania may be accounted for, however, upon two hypotheses: 1. The community of interest which is suspected of a ill-hungry between the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. notwithstanding the preliminary divorcement based some time ago by the federal authorities; and, 2. The established policy of the Pennsylvania to restrict the opening up of new coal fields to market demands.

The opening up of the coal lands of Greene county has been persistently refused by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the reason that coal and coke production have been ample for the requirements of consumption. In this respect the Pennsylvania has been a consistent conservator of Greene county's greater natural resource much against the wishes of most of Greene county people.

However, the time is at hand when neither the Pennsylvania nor any other large railway interest can much longer hold in leash the development of the coking coal field of Eastern Greene. The Lower Connellsville region coal is all taken up and under operation. The die is cast. The crossing of the Rubicon is at hand. The march of progress may not halt longer on the clockwork of the past; and when it crosses the railroad must go with it, or be left behind forever. It is big enough to furnish its own transportation facilities if necessary.

When the railroad enters Greene county, they may or may not enter together in the amiable manner which characterizes their presence in the Connellsville region; and, if they do not, the Lake Erie will perhaps be putting around about as promptly as any other line, if we may judge from its recent activities.

THE WATER RATES AND THE WATER COMMITTEE.

The Greater Town Council of Greater Connellsville has with its increase of membership had increase of wisdom. It has at least become sane and sane and sensible on the water question. It has appointed a committee to confer with the water company with a view to making a new contract on better terms if possible than the old contract.

This committee should have been appointed a couple of years ago, before the water contract expired, or immediately thereafter. The position held by some of our citizens, that there was no contract, and the water company could not charge anything for its water until a new contract was made, was utterly untenable.

On the contrary, the water company might have raised its rates and compelled the people to pay a great deal more for their water. They might have forced the borough to pay a greater rate for its fire hydrants in both cases they could have accomplished this by making demand and shutting off the supply until the demand was complied with.

But the water company acted wisely, justly and discreetly. They stood upon the old contract and sawed wood. The indifference of the water company could not collect any remuneration for its service in the absence of a specific contract, forgetting that he who accepts and uses an article without specific agreement as to price must pay fair compensation, and in the present case fair compensation would doubtless be adjudged to be not less than the rates which were made in an era of cheaper times.

All these things have been pointed out in The Courier, but some people choose to deliberately misconstrue them, and we ceased to protest and permitted the question to work itself out, confident that the outcome would be precisely what it is.

We trust that the committee will be able to secure a better water rate for the whole town, and if the members conduct their negotiations with diplomacy we imagine they will secure more favorable terms for the people.

THE BOYCOTT OF THE MEAT TRUST.

The actions of the Meat Trust are being met by the boycott of the Vegetarian Army, which is gathering in strength and effectiveness as the days go by. The boycott is developing into a revolution which will compel the butchering interest to be good.

Aside from the immediate object of the meat boycott, it is a good thing for the American people. They eat too much meat. They will be better off on a vegetarian diet. This is the testimony of the best medical authority.

Too much meat breeds all manner of physical disorders, not the least of which is a sluggish brain. The more of the animal we consume the more of the animal we become.

The people will be all the better for getting back to the products of the soil and getting the people back to cultivating the soil.

WOMAN'S CONSERVATION WORK.

"How many Women help the cause of Conservation?" was one of the questions propounded to the gathering of Governors at the White House this week.

There are some of our natural resources which women may not be able to materially conserve, but it is her especial mission to care for at least one of our most important natural resources, namely, the rising generation, the home and the school, the church and the community.

The care of the home, the fostering of youth, the training of workmen, the education of statesmen, is the chief conservation work of woman, and upon the ability with which it is done hangs the fate of the nation.

There should not be any quarrel over the appointment of the Pinchot-Hall committee. The committee should be above reproach and its work should be of public interest. It should attempt to infuse into this investigation, whether it be in the direction of preservation at the hands of democratic Democrats or white-washing at the hands of democratic Republicans. The inquiry must be wide open and the findings manifestly fair. There is consequently little to be gained in quarreling over the personnel of the committee; and, we may add, that in our opinion it is not good politics nor good statesmanship to dodge service on the committee.

Doctor Cook is reported to be in Germany. Let him go. He has evidently fled from fame.

Pinchot's pupil in his successor, and we will hope a worthy one.

Banker Walsh of Chicago goes to the Pen after a long absence, which he learned the old lesson that when a man loses his money he usually loses his friends.

OHIOANS ASKED TO JOIN CRUSADE.

Million People May Enlist in the Anti-Meat Movement.

KANSAS FIGHTING THE PACKERS

Food Probe Starts in Earnest in Ohio
Legislature—Thousands Sign a
Pledge to Abstain From Meat for 30
Days—Law of Supply and Demand.

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—Every citizen of Ohio is urged to boycott meat from Feb. 1 to March 27, Easter Sunday, in an appeal sent out by Mr. Williams, chairman of the legislative committee recently named to investigate the high cost of living in this state. That this appeal will be heard and acted upon seems certain. Already more than 10,000 men in the factories and stores of Cleveland have pledged themselves to a thirty-day meat fast and other cities of the state are following suit. It is believed that with in two weeks more than a million people in Ohio will have joined the vegetarian class. Chairman Williams in his appeal says such action will soon prove the truth or falsity of the claim that the law of supply and demand alone rules prices. Meat dealers admit that if the boycott grows it will send meat prices downward pretty quickly.

Resolution in Ohio Legislature
Columbus, O., Jan. 19.—A resolution calling upon the people of the state to abstain from eating meat for the next sixty days and to abstain entirely on a diet of vegetables, nuts and fruit for that length of time was introduced in the house by Representative T. P. O'Connor.

The committee on high prices at its first public meeting reviewed the mass of correspondence and a tentative plan of action outlined.

One method of bringing relief was much discussed. This was the introduction by Representative Calvey of Cleveland of a resolution asking congress to authorize the president to place any commodity on the free list when it is known to be controlled by a trust or combine. This if it is agreed, would go a long way to preventing high prices on foodstuffs.

Movement Spreads to Salem, O.
Salem, O., Jan. 19.—The war on the meat trust has spread to Salem. The movement here originated in the plant of the American Steel and Wire company where 700 signers were obtained.

Kansas to Fight Packers.
Kansas City, Jan. 19.—Attorney General Johnson of Kansas today said in the district court of Kansas City, Kan. against the Armour and Swift Packing companies, charging them with being members of a combination illegally to raise prices.

The state charges that the companies belong to the Kansas City or two exchange and are therefore liable under the Kansas law, providing a penalty of $100 a day for each membership. The suit will be a test case, this being the first action brought under the law.

PLAN PENNY BANQUET

Bridgeport (O.) Strikers' Spread Paid by the American Steel and Wire Co.

Bridgeport, O., Jan. 19.—The hundreds of striking employees of the American Steel and Wire company in this city are planning a penny banquet for next Saturday night and it will pattern after the famous $100 party banquet of the Carnegie Steel company in Pittsburgh two weeks ago.

The bill of fare at present arranged will consist of water, bread, cucumbers, pickles and ketchup to be eaten with Ohio river water for a beverage. Instead of southern long bones for their dinner they will have a hundred English sparrows, and instead of a life with cold fish swimming around they will have snowballs in empty dinner pails. The speakers of the evening will be officials of the organization and they have asked President P. F. McArdle to officiate as toastmaster.

BYRAN A CANDIDATE AGAIN?

Such is the Announcement Made by Omaha Paper.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 19.—William J. Bryan will be a candidate for president in 1912. This announcement was made by the Omaha Bee with the explanation that the statement is attributed to Richard L. Metcalfe, editor of Mr. Bryan's Commonwealth.

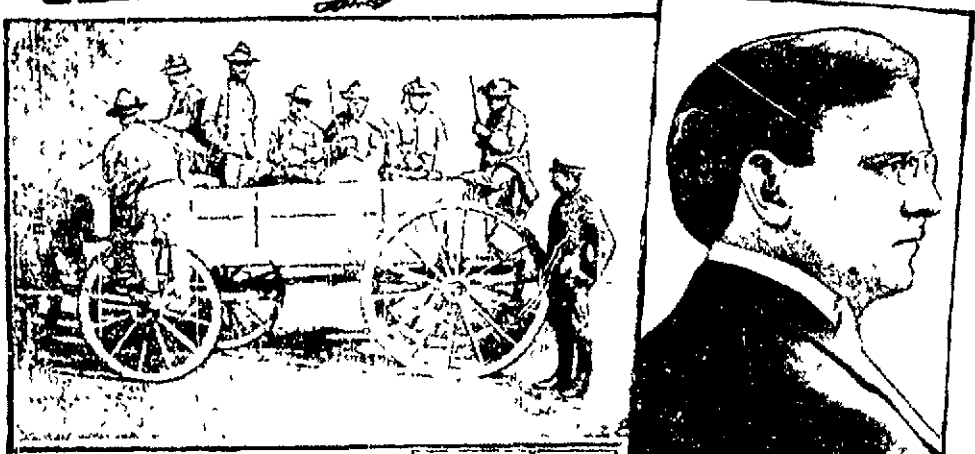

The statement is further made that the Democratic leaders in Nebraska are being called to the Commonwealth office and told the news with orders that they get out to work for his nomination. Under no circumstances will Mr. Bryan be a candidate for the United States senate in the announcement which is made with the report.

Woman Almost Dies of Starvation
Altoona, Pa., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Ida Shock and her infant child were found almost starved to death in a room. The woman has been living alone. She was too ill to summon help and for ten days they remained without food. Their bodies were found on the floor by the occupants of the first floor and investigation disclosed the woman's plight.

NIGHT RIDERS, HEAD OF TOBACCO SOCIETY AND GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATOR.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 19.—The determination of the federal authorities to try to put an end to the growing Night Rider outrages in parts of the tobacco growing sections of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, Wade H. Ellis, assistant to Attorney General Wickham, being named as government investigator, has called renewed attention to the situation in the tobacco country. It is openly charged that the Burley Tobacco Society, an association of wealthy tobacco growers forming a pool and opposing the marketing of crops by independent farmers at prices below those fixed by the society, is responsible for the burning of barns, the whippings and the shootings that have terrorized the tobacco growing country for many months. The allegation is vigorously denied by Clarence Le Bus of Lexington, president of the society, and by its other officers, who declare that they are "no more responsible for the outrages than any forward movement in history has been responsible for the disorders that attended its progress." They assert their willingness to have the control of the tobacco markets by their society, numbering thousands of members, investigated by the department of justice or by any other Federal or State authority. Pooling of crops to control prices is not forbidden by the laws of Kentucky.

UNIONISTS WIN.

Winston Churchill and T. P. O'Connor
Returned From Their Districts.

London, Jan. 19.—In the latest voting the Unionists have made a far better showing than in the first two days of the election. Of forty-six seats twenty-three fell to the government coalition and twenty-one to the Unionists, making the total net gain thus far forty-two.

The party membership, including the candidates returned without opposition, now stands: Liberals, 89; Laborites and Socialists, 19; Nationalists, 27, making the total coalition membership 135 and Unionists 116. Winston Churchill had a great triumph in Dundee retaining his seat with the largely increased vote of 10,747, and his colleague Mr. Wilkie retained his seat by 10,765. T. P. O'Connor retained his seat for the Scotland division of Liverpool by a slightly increased vote.

Polling for eighty-one seats lately held by 50 Liberals, 20 Unionists, 7 Laborites and 4 Nationalists is going on today. A large proportion of these are in widespread county divisions.

MAY GO ON STRIKE.

Philadelphia Is Again Threatened
With Rapid Transit Tie-up.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—Within twenty-four hours it is probable that Philadelphia will be wrestling with another street car strike. At the first of the two meetings of union employees of the Rapid Transit company scheduled for last night a vote was taken, and, while no official announcement has been made, it is reported that fully 75 per cent of the voters have called for the strike. If this percentage should hold good in the second meeting the strike undoubtedly will be called.

C. O. Pratt, the national organizer of the amalgamated street car men's union, addressed the meeting and counseled them not to strike at this time. If the strike is called the vote of the men will be submitted to the national body of the union before the strike goes into effect.

FIGHT FOR SENATOR SCOTT

Congressman Hubbard of West Virginia a Candidate For Honor.
Washington, Jan. 19.—Nathan Bay Scott, whose term as a senator from West Virginia will expire on March 6, 1911, will have opposition for re-election.

William Prentiss Hubbard, who represents the first West Virginia district in the house, announces that he will be a candidate to succeed Mr. Scott. This insures a lively fight in West Virginia. Senator Scott will have the support of the Elkins influence in the state.

Murderer Adjudged Insane.
Chillicothe, O., Jan. 19.—Adam Swartz, the farmer who shot and killed his wife Saturday, was adjudged insane and taken to the Athens asylum.

HOUSE EXPECTS BATTLE ROYAL.

Billings Probe Committee to Be Named Tomorrow.

REPUBLICANS CAUCUS TONIGHT

Organization Prepares Tentative Plan to Oust Democratic Selections and May Name the Minority Members
When Resolution Is Presented.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Unless all signs fail there will be a regulation old time battle royal in the house of representatives tomorrow.

After figuring on a plan by which Representative James and Rainey could be kept off the Hallinger-Pinchot commission of investigation, to which they were selected by the Democratic caucus, and forcing half of the insurgents out of the Republican caucus this evening the house organization reached a tentative decision.

This is the plan: At the caucus this evening it will be proposed to select Representatives Olmsted of Pennsylvania, McCall of Massachusetts, Bach of Wisconsin and Madison of Kansas to serve as the Republican members of the joint committee of inquiry. Mr. Bach replaced in this tentative plan Representative Stevens of Minnesota, who has declined to serve.

The organization cannot see that there is anything in the make-up of this end of the committee that can by any possibility meet with the opposition of the insurgents.

Planned to Name Democrats.

It had also been the plan to name the two Democrats at the Republican caucus tonight to serve on the committee in place of Messrs. James and Rainey, who, as is well known, are extremely objectionable to the Republican side. But when it became apparent that if an attempt were made in the caucus to select two other Democrats at least half, and probably more, of the insurgent strength would get up and walk out, it was necessary to find another adjustment of the situation.

So it was decided not to force the issue in the caucus, but that tomorrow, when the proposition of formally selecting the committee members comes up in the house, to have Representative Mann of Illinois offer an amendment to the resolution from the committee on rules, adding Representatives A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania and Borland of Missouri, both Democrats to the four Republicans endorsed by tonight's caucus.

All kinds of a Split Threatened. Now, when this question of adopting Mr. Mann's amendment is put to a vote there will be all kinds of a split. At least half the insurgents, led by Representative Norris of Nebraska, say they believe the Democratic caucus selection should be ratified, however objectionable the selections may be in a partisan and political sense to the Republicans, and that they won't stand for this attempt by the organization to bring in a couple of subs.

Also, there are some members of the organization who have not made up their minds on the proposition yet. Senator Payne of Kentucky and Senator Fletcher of Florida have been chosen as the minority members of the senate committee to investigate the Hallinger-Pinchot controversy. The selections were made by Senator Money, the minority leader. He first requested Senators Hughes of Colorado and Clarke of Arkansas to represent the Democrats of the senate in the investigation, but they preferred not to serve.

Grand Army Men Urge Pension Bill. The legislative committee of the Grand Army of the Republic called on Representative Sullivan of New Hampshire, chairman of the house committee on invalid pensions to urge the enactment of the bill granting pension of $12 a month to widows of veterans who married the veterans within three years of their death. This proposition is a broader form passed the senate last year, but failed in the house. It is very doubtful if it will be passed at this session.

Protests Honoring Lee's Birthday. Senator Heyburn of Idaho renewed his hostility to any movement honoring the memory of General Robert E. Lee, whose statue he objects to being accepted for statutory hall, by offering a resolution demanding to know if the United States collector of customs of Newport News, Va., closed his office today by authority of officials here in celebration of Lee's birthday.

GERMANS ABANDON HOPE

Find Themselves Powerless to Evade
Tariff War With United States.
Berlin, Jan. 19.—The government seems to have abandoned hope of evading a tariff war with the United States, believing that the rebating will not agree to modify the regulations governing the importation of meat, and without the rebating's consent the government is powerless.

The government's last cabled dispatch replying to Washington's note and containing Germany's maximum was sent as a forlorn hope that the United States would recognize the difficulties of the situation and accept the reply as satisfactory, but it is understood that its acceptance is really not expected.

WALSH BEGINS LONG SENTENCE.

Banker, Feeble and Tottering, Enters Leavenworth Prison.

COMMITTED BY JUDGE LANDIS

Pays Penalty For the Wrecking of Chicago National Bank, Which Carried Down With it Two Other Institutions.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—John R. Walsh was taken to the Fort Leavenworth (Kan.) federal prison last night to serve a five years' sentence for wrecking the Chicago National bank. The United States circuit court of appeals refused his petition that the verdict be set aside and the case tried over again and issued a mandate directing that the sentence of the lower court be carried out at once.

United States Marshal L. T. Hoy with Walsh in charge, reached the federal prison this morning. Four years, one month and one day will have elapsed since the Chicago National bank failed, carrying down with it the Home Savings bank and the Equitable Trust company. Judge Kossow M. Landis of the United States district court, who refused to sit in the Walsh case when it came up after the suspension of Mr. Walsh's bank in 1905, because he had long been an intimate friend of Mr. Walsh, found himself confronted with a task most disagreeable to him. He was the only district court judge now in Chicago and to him fell the work of signing the order committing Walsh to the penitentiary.

Walsh appeared in Judge Landis' court when the papers were signed. Attorney Sims asked for issuance of the commitment and Judge Landis signed it without a word. Neither the judge nor Mr. Walsh nodded to each other.

Walsh left the courtroom with his relatives and Attorney John S. Miller. He looked old, weak, hopeless and almost ill. He tottered and almost fell as he descended the steps from the building very slowly. He had to be helped into the automobile.

GENERAL MEDINA SKIPS

Wanted For Execution of Americans in Nicaragua.

Managua, Jan. 19.—The police were told in an attempt to arrest General Medina for the part he took in the court-martial and execution of Cannon and Groce, the two Americans who were shot some time ago for aiding the revolutionists. They broke into General Medina's residence, but he had evidently been warned and had fled.

Senator Baca, the minister general has issued orders that he be taken into custody wherever found. Senator Salva, who is charged with having influenced the officer who presided at the trial of Cannon and Groce has been arrested in Leon and admitted to bail.

Flood Does Much Damage.

Irwin, Pa., Jan. 19.—The heavy rains and melting snow have caused Brush creek to overflow. Much damage has been done by the water in this section. The water has flooded the basements and first floors of more than 100 houses. Mines and trolley lines are out of commission.

The girl regarded him quizzically. "Say, ain't you afraid of gettin' plucked for peddlin' hot air without a license?" she asked.

"It ain't hot air. It's God's truth, Ock, but it's a good to look at you. You don't know how I miss you, den."

"I must hump back to the seat pud die tomorrow."

"Tomorrow? Why?"

"To connect 'The Moonlight Maids' goes into cold storage."

"So I gather, seems to be a bad season for show?"

"It's always a bad season for bad shows with him backin'."

"This evening is huntin' a job gets on my nerves," she said dejectedly. "I'm tired of it, tired of mixin' you, Dan, tired of seein' you only once in a dog's age."

"So am I, sick to death of mixin' you an' huntin' for you, an' I won't have you go. Marry me now, Patsy. We'll get along somehow."

He went to her and put his arm around her.

"Say yes," he urged, stroking her hair back from her forehead, exclaiming: "What a use of waitin'?"

"An' put a ring on your prospects?" she exclaimed suddenly, looking up at him. "No, Dan, I ain't such a weak minded slob as that. I was foolish to let that rascal enter me, I'm just tired that's all."

"It breaks me all up," he said, with a sob in his voice. "I know we could make it a go."

"Not by bein' wroth on the money proposition, boy. Just how do we stand? Min's been lentin'—but let's get down to cases."

"It started at Sheephead," he began. "I thought I had a string of good ones."

"An' they turned out skates?"

"Yes, I didn't pull off a purse that was more than chicken feed. I had to take in a partner, and it doesn't look like I'll earn more than my keep for the next six months."

"If 'a this Crawford ain't to boost your game?"

"He's lent me money, an' I've given him a half interest in the 'skates' an' a mortgage on the rest as security for the loan. It was a case of 'alo some one in or get out myself, that's what some promisin' youngsters that used to bring a good price. Then I'll say him up or sell out this game. Anyhow, I'm goin' to quit this game. Me for a stock farm."

"Then we'd settle down like a couple of Reubens—as an the cows," she commented at length, without enthusiasm.

"Not cows—horses," he explained.

"No more playin' dates at Sheephead or New Orleans?"

"No travel at all; just stayin' home."

"Just stayin' home? Oh, Dan, do you suppose it would last?"

He looked at her in great surprise.

"Why, sure," he said.

"I dunno," she continued doubtfully, shaking her head. "I've met more than one dull who has thrown a man down hard just to get back to the bright lights. They landed out a lot of junk about love for their art when it was none but a rankin' for the excitement. Dan, I ain't no better than any one else. I'm kinder afraid."

She smiled at her fondly and pook pooked her apprehensions.

"You ain't no doll, and you're a million times better than other girls," he said. "I'm not afraid. I know you love me."

"That last part's no idle dream," she responded.

"An' that's what counts," he said reassuringly. "Don't you go gettin' all stewed up."

LADY

Novelized From Forbes' Play of the Same Name by JOHN W. HARDING

Patsy seated herself on the edge of a chair and, motioning Crawford to another, said icily: "Won't you sit down?"

CHAPTER V.

THE heavy rain of the night before and the blustering squalls of the early morning had been succeeded by brisk, bright Indian summer weather. In the stable yard the Duke was unendingly Lady Belle, having brought that famous mare in from her afternoon exercise.

Soon he was interrupted by the arrival of Crawford and Mallory and a command from the latter to leave Lady Belle and hitch up the buggy. Mallory wanted to drive his partner to the station himself, but Crawford would not hear of it. There was no occasion for him to go to so much trouble, he said. Mallory did not need much persuasion to induce him to remain at home. He had little time enough to spend with Patsy. He was very grateful to Crawford, whose thoughtfulness had raised him still higher in his estimation, so when the Duke brought the buggy around he ordered the boy to go along with it. The two partners shook hands with great heartiness, and Mallory watched the departing New Yorker until a turn in the road masked him from sight.

It was more than pleased with the partner he had had the good fortune to interest in the stable. To be sure, the advantage to himself from the financial point of view was not great. For the time being he would, as he had told his fiancée, get little more than his keep as a result of the arrangement, but without the funds that had thus come to him at a time of dire need he would not have been able to continue the business at all. Now he hoped in the more or less near future to be able to make enough to give up the training stable and try his luck with a stock farm, which it seemed to him offered a better chance of success.

Crawford himself was well pleased with his own part of the bargain, which was a good deal more advantageous to him than it was to Mallory. He was by no means a millionaire, but he was well off, and it had been his great desire to get the wealthier men of his set by obtaining a proprietary interest in a racing stable. It was an unexpected bit of luck that had enabled him to realize his ambition, and he was all the more gratified in that he had at the same time done a good stroke of business, for he was no fool, and the commercial instinct was sufficiently developed within him to lead him to order most of his affairs with an eye to the main chance.

"Are you the Shrimp?" he demanded of the Duke, who was driving, as they emerged on to the highway.

"No, sir, beggin' yer pardon, sir; me name's Perkins. William Perkins, but there's some as calls me the Duke," replied that personage.

"Oh, you're the Duke," was Crawford's comment, and thereafter he remained silent, wrapped in thought throughout the journey. Upstream in his mind was his interview with Patsy. He did not like her, and with good reason. With her keen intuition and familiarity with individuals of his stamp she had read him through instantly and sized him up as a bounder. Her conversation with him had been brief and to the point.

"See here," she had said curtly, pointing her finger at him. "My little sister's not for you to monkey with for the likes of you. Understand? You keep your mitts off, or you'll find yourself up against me!"

He would have passed the matter off with a facetious, bantering remark, but she had forestalled his reply and intimated that there was nothing more to be said by rising and leaving the room. He wondered whether she would tell Mallory about it. He did not care whether she did or not, if the subject ever came up again, he would dismiss it as absurd, as a joke and further as a matter not to be reverted to.

Arrived at the station, he threw a five dollar bill to the Duke and dismissed him.

The sudden possession of all this wealth set him to thinking what he could do with it, and instantly his mind was made up. He would settle Nora's bet. This generous impulse was a very natural one with the Duke. Nora was the object of his blind adoration, and if she turned up her pretty nose at it—for it has been truly said that love and a cough never can be hid—this did not prevent him from worshipping with all the sweet, foolish ardor of his years everything that breathed of her and recalled her.

The Duke knew, or, at least felt certain, that the Shrimp would carry out his threat and demand his money of Nora's parents, and he dreaded for her the scene that would follow. When he reached the stables he found the Shrimp working to the yard with O'Brien, and his heart went into his mouth at the thought that perhaps he was too late; that his fellow helper might already have betrayed the girl to her father. When the opportunity presented itself, he addressed the Shrimp.

"Dear Mr. McNelli—If you are seeking to help young men, kindly tell me who was Cain's wife?"

That seemed a poser, and the audience waited with intense interest, tempered with amusement, to see how the good man would extricate himself. After a pause he said:

"I love young men, especially young inquirers for light, and I would give this young man a word of advice. It is this. Don't lose your soul's salvation looking after other people's wives."

"Might Come in Handy." A charming Louisville girl, the daughter of a minister, has always been famed for her habit of saving things because they may come in handy, and last summer the family told a story on her which she would give a good deal to suppress. She had been away at White Sulphur Springs and, being especially popular, had become the recipient of such a variety of souvenirs that before coming home she sent one trunk abroad in which she put many of the various trinkets for her smaller brothers and sisters and some summer frocks which had become too faded to wear. Her mother industriously unpacked the trunk and finally, when reaching the bottom, was transfixed to find several hundred poker chips and about half a dozen decks of cards. When her horrified father later demanded an explanation the daughter quite innocently and unconsciously said:

"Why, father, they were left in the room I was occupying by some former occupant, and I just took them because I thought they might come in handy."

And even the minister smiled at her explanation—Louisville Times.

Satisfied. One evening a very tall man went to the theater and took a prominent seat in the third or fourth row from the stage. Before the curtain rose a cry of "Down in front!" became general from behind. The tall man, finding the eyes of the entire audience turned toward him, felt obliged to do something, and so he proceeded to raise himself to a standing position in such a manner, however, as to convey an impression that there was no end to him. He was, in fact, nearly seven feet high, and when at last he had risen to his full height he slowly glanced around at the astonished audience and very deliberately remarked:

"Gentlemen, to satisfy you that I was sitting down I now stand up."

A burst of laughter and applause followed, amidst which the manager, with beaming face, came forward and conducted the gentleman to a private box.

Officers not in uniform are sent out to keep watch of men and youths who how to women they don't know. When they are detected they are taken to a station and put through the same ordeal a criminal has to undergo. Hereafter when a woman or girl is annoyed and the masher gets away, if she will go to police headquarters she can look over this gallery, identify the man and the police will look him up and bring him in.

H. S. GRAVES, NEW FORESTER, KNOWS EVERYTHING ABOUT TREES.

If there is anything about trees that Henry S. Graves, the new forester of the United States, does not know it has not been discovered yet. Since 1902, or for almost twenty years, Mr. Graves has been devoting all of his time to the scientific study of forestry. His success in that line led to his appointment in 1909 to the position of director of the forestry school of Yale University. Mr. Graves was associated with Gifford Pinchot, the removed chief forester, as assistant chief of the bureau of forestry from 1898 to 1900.

It was largely through the efforts of Mr. Pinchot, who is a Yale man, that the university established the forestry school, and he used his influence to obtain for Mr. Graves the position of director. Mr. Graves has made extensive studies of the forests of the United States especially in the West, and he has also devoted much time to the forests of Europe, where the practice of scientific forestry has given much better results than in the United States.

The comedy numbers tonight will include roller skating without skates, the cold water that is very hot, and the funny circus, and other tests. A change of programme will be given at every performance and two prizes will be given away on Friday night.

"Eight Balls." The famous Brothers Byrne will produce their successful pantomime production "The New Eight Balls" at the Solsson theatre next Wednesday night, Jan. 26th. The tricks and scenic effects invented by the talent of John F. Byrne are very clever and startling. The piece is entirely new and comes fresh and crisp as a new bank note.

Fate of a Lincoln Car. On the forty-sixth anniversary of the world famous Gettysburg address of Abraham Lincoln the car which conveyed the martyred president to and from Gettysburg was found five miles from town being used as sleeping quarters by a railroad repair gang. The car for many years was used between Hanover and Hanover Junction, where it was affectionately designated as "Old 74," that being its number. Recently it was found to be getting out of repair and was assigned to a repair gang. By a singular coincidence that particular gang was assigned to the Gettysburg division of the road, and the car was found at Seven Stars by persons who knew its history. There is talk of trying to have the car sent to Gettysburg and convert it into a historical museum.

GREEN ROOM CHAT.

THE SOISSON.

The Great Duncan All Week. Cuck walking while hypnotized was the most laughable feature of the varied program of Duncan, the hypnotist, at the Solsson theatre last night. The subjects after being hypnotized were given the suggestion that they were veteran dancers and although some of them had worked hard during the day, yet the striking of the first chord of music seemed to entirely banish this fact from their minds and they performed like veterans of the "sanded boards."

Perhaps the most laughable part of the entertainment is when the subjects are awakened in the midst of their performance, when they are doing their best in the various stunts which they do at the suggestion of the hypnotist. This awakening shows them some of the stunts which they have done, and the condition in which they generally find themselves causes them to make a hasty retreat so as to get out of the sight of the audience.

The comedy numbers tonight will include roller skating without skates, the cold water that is very hot, and the funny circus, and other tests. A change of programme will be given at every performance and two prizes will be given away on Friday night.

COUNCIL WANTS NEW CONTRACT MADE WITH WATER COMPANY.

Water Committee Directed to Take Matter Up With Company Officials With Hope of Lower Rates.

GRADING OF ASHMAN AVENUE

Goes Through, the Contract Being Awarded to Bernard O'Connor—Certificate of Indebtedness Given to the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company.

Town Council wants a new contract with the Connellsville Water Company and will try to get cheaper rates both for borough and company use. At the regular meeting of Council last evening President Blair Stillwagon directed the Water Committee to confer with the officials of the Connellsville Water Company for the purpose of making a contract with them. This will be done if the new contract is only for a year.

Chairman W. H. Thomas of the Finance Committee brought the matter before Town Council last evening by calling attention to the fact that the contract with the water company has expired. The old borough of New Haven was in a similar way and had not taken up consideration of the matter before the town consolidated.

The members of Council expressed themselves as convinced that the present rates are too high. Councilmen believe that a new contract at lower rates can be made with but little difficulty. President Stillwagon was directed to appoint a committee to confer with the water company and named the Water Committee. John Dorman was chairman of this committee but with his retirement from Council John T. Hotel became the ranking member. Mr. Hotel preferred not to move in this capacity and John F. Reynolds was put in charge. The committee will not change any material part of the old contract at this time, but will set down to work in an effort to secure a water contract which will not only reduce the fire plug charges assessed the borough, but the domestic rates of consumption as well.

In spite of apparent hostility on the part of the East Side members, the West Side delegation, headed by the grizzling of Ashman Avenue, between Ninth and Twelfth streets, the high Council last night and let the contract to Bernard O'Connor at the rate of 10 cents a cubic yard. Ten only other bidder was Malachi Dugan, who asked 42 cents. Councilman Lepley said the bids were high and wanted them thrown out, but Councilman McCormick and others who know something about excavating declared that both bids were low.

When the petition regarding the borough from damages was read there were several persons who did not signed it. Councilman Crowley made a plea that the work be rushed as quickly as possible and put the motion. President Stillwagon advised according to many releases as possible before taking more steps. Councilman Friel asked where the money was coming from to pay for this work and his question yet remains unanswered.

Councilman Crowley admitted that the borough finances are in bad shape but declared this to be a public improvement of which is badly needed and to which the residents of the Hill district are entitled. Other East Side members preferred to temporize, but when the discussion wandered, President Stillwagon put the motion and it was carried, Friel being the only one to dissent.

A certificate of indebtedness was issued to the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company for $6,129.91, payable in nine months. By issuing this certificate, providing it will be accepted, the Finance Committee has been able to save $32.95 in interest which had accrued. Chairman Thomas reported to Council that the borough is up to a limit of indebtedness. To assume any heavier liabilities will require a vote of the people. Chairman Thomas put it up to Council to advise what course shall be followed, but none was forthcoming.

Chairman William McCormick of the Public Safety Committee submitted a motion to have three plugs and a fire alarm box placed in Snydertown and a plug and an alarm in the East Park addition. Passed at Stillwagon's instigation that the Snydertown plugs be reduced to two and McCormick's motion a short light to have the original number retained, defeated. The one plug in the East Park addition will protect all the houses over there, but McCormick is not sure two plugs are enough in Snydertown. He wanted the Borough Engineer to measure and see if the two plugs, with 200 feet of hose, would reach all the houses. If two are not sufficient, an other plug may be secured in the future.

Chairman McCormick also reported that the volunteer fire department had been reorganized and asked that authority be given to remove to the new fire house in City Hall. This was granted. There are no keys for this room. The collector George Brown, who has the only known key, went to Snydertown with it Monday.

Chairman Cypher of the Street Committee reported that John D. Friel has been threatened to sue the borough and it is a step leading to his prosecution for property. Council again declined to authorize the construction of the street.

The only report of the Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings was that at the roof of the West Side building, tanks now and then. Chairman Dittmore was directed to have this repaired.

Chairman Lepley of the Railroad Committee reported that the derailers have been removed from the West Penn tracks on Main street, West Side, and the matter of removing the ders is now up.

Chairman McCormick of the Public Safety Committee reported that his committee recommends payment of four volunteer firemen for their services last year. Council took no action. The payroll was held over until the regular February meeting. Burges Evans' report was read and placed on file. Council adjourned at 9:10 P. M.

HOW WOMEN CAN ASSIST

In Conservancy Movement Answered by Nineteen Governors.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Replies of nineteen governors to questions propounded to them by Mrs. Amos G. Draper, chairman of the conservation committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, have been made public. The questions asked were: "What is the special need of conservation in your state?" and "How may women help?"

Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio recommends the conservation of the physical welfare of boys and girls in industrial schools "by amelioration of conditions which tend to send the girls and boys to industrial schools," and "to supplement the work of those institutions after the boys and girls have gone out therefrom by every form of encouragement." Governor William E. Glasscock of West Virginia deprecates the waste of natural resources in his state.

WHO WILL BE THE NEXT?

Loeb Denies Story of No Further Indictments in Sugar Scandal. New York, Jan. 19.—A denial by Collector Loeb that he had said Charles R. Heike was the man likely to be in the government's sugar prosecutions and that there would be no further indictments of officials of the trust has had the effect of renewing speculation as to who will be the next man caught in the government's dragnet.

Henry L. Stimson's office declines to throw any light on the matter beyond a statement of Winifred T. Denison that the federal grand jury is going on with its investigations and that if any men high or low are found to be sufficiently implicated further indictments will be found.

PLANNED DASH FOR LIBERTY

300 Convicts at Sing Sing in Plot, Guards Doubled.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The prison guard at Sing Sing prison has been doubled by the discovery of a plot for the wholesale escape of 300 prisoners. The plan, it is announced, was made known to the authorities by a first-class convict and was frustrated only by desperate and quick action on the part of the authorities.

The 300 convicts were housed in a temporary dormitory, removed from the main buildings, and patrolled by only six guards. The prisoners planned to overpower the six and then all together rush for liberty. In the ensuing confusion the leaders argued that more than half of their number would be able to get safely beyond hope of successful pursuit.

TAMMANY GETS A LOOK-IN

Gaynor's Latest Appointments Include Three Organization Men.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mayor Gaynor has made these appointments: Commissioner of correction, Patrick A. Whitney, salary, $7,500; commissioner of accounts, Raymond H. Fosdick, salary, $6,000; board of assessors, William Crawford Ormondson, Jr., to C. Astarita and Joseph P. Hennessy, salary, $5,000.

Tammany at least gets a look-in. Three of the five appointments go to men who belong to that organization. These are Mr. Whitney, Mr. Astarita and Mr. Hennessy. The gossip at the city hall was that Mr. Whitney was named on the recommendation of C. F. Murphy.

NATHAN STRAUS,
PHILANTHROPIST,
ILL FROM WORRY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The serious illness of Nathan Straus, New York merchant and philanthropist, known throughout the United States and Europe for his milk charities, which have saved the lives of thousands of babies, was caused by his exertions in behalf of the tuberculosis prevention at Lakewood, N. J., of which he has been the most earnest supporter. The opposition manifested toward the prevention by some of the residents of the famous resort was a great disappointment to Mr. Straus.

BREAKS RECORD.

Paulhan Flies a Distance of 45 Miles Without a Stop.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 19.—Louis Paulhan, having a gain, established a new world's record for cross-country flight.

Other flights have been made covering greater territory, but none has been made to a prescribed point and return without stopping and covering so great a distance. Paulhan's flight was forty-five miles. Cody's flight of forty miles in England has heretofore been the established record.

After making a few circles in the air Paulhan swooped down to the judges' stand and announced his purpose of going to Arcadia and back, trying for the $10,000 prize offered for this flight. Without stopping he sailed again into the air and was off. He maintained a height of between 1,000 and 2,000 feet during the flight. His highest point was 3,120 feet.

Funeral Held Back by Weather.

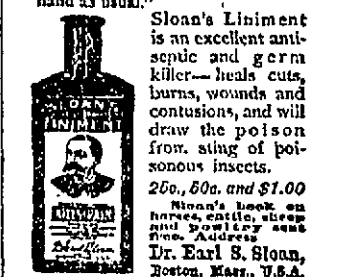

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 19.—Just before Mrs. A. C. Danbarger of Belpre, O., wife of one of the best known steamboat pilots on the Ohio river, died, she requested that her funeral should not be held until five days and five nights had elapsed and that she should not be buried on a rainy day. When the funeral was to be held it was raining hard and the burial did not take place. Her family intend to carry out her request.

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises. It cures the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Here's the Proof. Mr. L. ROLAND, Bishop of Scranton, Pa., says: "On the 7th of this present month, as I was leaving the building at noon for lunch, I slipped and fell, spraining my wrist. I returned in the afternoon, and at four o'clock I could not hold a pencil in my hand. I returned home later and purchased a bottle of Sloan's Liniment."
